Medibank Health Solutions recently launched Anywhere Healthcare, a secure online medical consultation service that will take healthcare into rural and remote communities across Australia. With this platform GPs and Indigenous health workers, Specialists and Allied Health workers in regional and remote areas will now be able to give their patients better access to healthcare services. This service uses proven, purpose-built technology to give patients access to live consultations through two-way video. Using this platform, medical professionals are able to review clinical information and symptoms, provide medical advice, diagnose and gain information about prescriptions as a future enhancement. Anywhere Healthcare is an exciting step forward in improving equity of access to healthcare across Australia.
