An exciting opportunity exists to undertake PhD research under the supervision of Professor Margaret Alston in the GLASS Unit. GLASS is working to enhance women's leadership and achieve gender equality, social sustainability and the further empowerment of women and girls through the high quality and relevance of its research and publications.

1 PhD Scholarship is available for 2011 and is funded by the Faculty of Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences, Monash University. It can be undertaken on topics related to the four key focus areas of GLASS - gender and climate change, violence against women, social sustainability and leadership.

The scholarship will be awarded on the basis of a written application and an interview. The successful candidate will also be required to meet the criteria for admission to Monash University’s PhD program.

www.mrgs.monash.edu.au

Please email Dr Kerri Whittenbury, Gender, Leadership and Social Sustainability Research Unit, Department of Social Work, Monash University for a copy of the application criteria or for any inquiries.

kent.whittenbury@monash.edu

Applications close 30 November 2010.