

PhD Scholarships: Gender, Leadership and Social Sustainability (GLASS)

Patron: Her Excellency Ms Quentin Bryce AO,
Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia

An exciting opportunity exists to undertake PhD research under the supervision of Professor Margaret Alston in the GLASS Unit, Department of Social Work, Monash University.

Three PhD Scholarships are available.

One Scholarship is funded by an ARC Linkage grant to undertake a gendered analysis of outcomes for farm families who exit farming as part of a structural adjustment process.

Two Scholarships funded by the Faculty of Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences,

Monash University, can be undertaken on topics related to gender and climate change.

Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of a written application and an interview. Successful candidates will also be required to meet the criteria for admission to Monash University's PhD program www.mrgs.monash.edu.au

Enquiries:

Dr Kerri Whittenbury, GLASS Unit

Email: Kerri.Whittenbury@med.monash.edu.au

Ph: (03) 8575 2214

Applications close: 30 November 2009

MONASH University
Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences

www.med.monash.edu

CRICOS Provider: Monash University 00008C